G. W. U. GLEE CLUB WINS THIRD PLACE IN NATIONAL MEET

N. Y. U. And Yale Get Higher
Rating In Contest At Carnegie Hall

The George Washington University Glee Club was awarded third place in the fifteenth annual Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest held in Carnegie Hall, New York, Saturday, March 14. First and second places went to New York University, with a rating of 259.6, and Yale, with 250.6. George Washington's score was 249.9. Lafayette, with 247.6, took the fourth place.

The contest consisted of the singing by the eleven glee clubs present of three songs each. The first song, Elgar's "Feasting, I Watch," was sung by all the clubs. This was the Prize Song and it was sung at a preliminary meeting in Wanamaker Auditorium on Saturday afternoon. Performance in this song counted one-half in the total rating.

The second and third songs chosen by the respective clubs were sung at the evening performance at Carnegie Hall. George Washington's selections were, Brahms' "Swedish Folk Song" and "Interger Vitae," sung as the college song. The "choice" and "college" songs were given weights of three-tenths and one-fifth in the total score.

Defending Champions
George Washington appeared as the defending champions, having won the National Contest last year, and also as the winners of this year's contest for the first time.

Other clubs participating were those of Columbia, Dartmouth, Fordham, New York University, Yale, Lafayette, Washington University of St. Louis, Capital University from Ohio, Williams College, and Union College.

The judges for the contest were, Dr. Howard Hanson, chairman; Thompson Stone, conductor of the Handel and Hayden Society of Boston, and Duncan McKenzie, of the Oxford University Press, of London.

The George Washington club sang under the direction of Jesse Simson, student conductor, who led the group to victory last year. Contest regulations prevented Dr. Robert H. Harmon, director, from appearing on the stage.

Those taking part in the contest from this school included, Jesse Stinson, student conductor; Hugh Buckingham, Everett Cooper, Richard Kilstein, Ralph Kimble, Douglas Taylor and Clinton Vernon, first tenors; Daniel Beattie, Robert Orlert, Richard Hill, George Roth, George Wells, and Geoffrey Creyke, second tenors; Carl Brown, Robert Cushman, Samuel Detwiler, George Jarvis, William May, Norman Morgan, Frank Schriener, and Winfield Wetzel, first basses; Henry Amos, Paul Bloom, John Cook, Carroll Hughes, Allan Crocker, Rollin Jones, Henry Stanton, and Harold Stepler, second basses.

Modern Poetry Club To Launch Contest; Expects To Uncover Hidden Talent

With the announcement in this week's issue of The Hatchet, the Modern Poetry Club is launching a Poetry Contest to determine the poet "par excellence" of the University. This contest which the club hopes to make an annual affair, is expected to uncover talents among the undergraduate body which have hitherto been obscured through lack of opportunity to display them.

The winner of the contest will hold the title of "Poet of George Washington University for 1931" and his picture will appear in the last issue of The Hatchet along with a write-up of the poem and its author. Besides these distinctions, the lucky poet, or poets, will receive as a prize a book of poetry. While the name of the book has not been definitely decided on, the "Anthology of World Poetry," by Mark Van Dorn is being considered. The judges will be the editor of The Hatchet, the editor of the Supplement, two members of the Modern Poetry Club and Dean Wilbur.

Following are the rules of the contest:

1. Any undergraduate student of the university is eligible.
2. Poems may be sent to "Poetry Contest" care of "The Hatchet-Supplement."
3. No poem will be accepted after April 20.
4. A poem may be on any subject.
5. A poem may not be less than ten nor more than fifty lines.

Freshman Rhetoric Class Tries Out Honor System

A new honor system is being tried out in the freshman rhetoric class this semester. This system, which Provost Wilbur proposed, is based on personal honor and group integrity. Under this system each person signs a pledge to the effect that he has neither given nor received aid during the examination. An attempt is being made to build up an opinion against cheating so that the violator of the code will find himself so deeply in bad repute with classmates that he will finally conform to the system. This try-out of the honor system also is a test of human nature. Provost Wilbur is very anxious to discover if his freshman class can successfully conform to his ideals.

If the test is successful in the freshman class, it will be submitted to the University for adoption. Other universities have used it with great success.

WESTBROOK WINS DRAMA CLUB LEAD FOR SPRING PLAY

Prender, Jacobs, and Mills Also To Play Important Parts
At Wardman Park

Frank Westbrook, Phyllis Mills, Kingsland Prender, and Florence Jacobs have the leads in "The Cassilis Engagement," the spring play of the Drama Club. Other parts are to be taken by Jack Vivian, Hannah Stolar, Virginia Barrett, Lillian Spector, and Mary Davis.

Over half of the parts were given to members of the Drama Club, even though the try-outs were open to everyone in the University.

The play is to be given in the Wardman Park Theatre on April 17. Jack Vivian is the business manager of the production and Louise Wright, the publicity manager. The cast was chosen by J. Milnor Dorey, director of the play. There were two elimination try-outs.

Westbrook Active in Drama
Frank Westbrook was vice president of the Drama Club in 1929 and 1930. He took part in the Drama Club play, "Two Times Two Is Five," in 1928. He has been in all the Troubadour productions since 1928. He is a member of Les Jongleurs, is on the Cherry Tree staff, and his social fraternity is Theta Delta Chi.

Phyllis Mills has studied dramatics at the University of Wisconsin and took part in several of the plays of that school. She directed dramatics while at Northwestern University, and was affiliated with the Goodman Memorial Theatre in Chicago. She is president of the Drama Club of G. W.

Florence Jacobs was on the varsity swimming team in 1930. She is a reporter on The Hatchet, a member of the swimming and tennis teams of her class, and was in the "Troubadours" chorus in 1931. She has been a member of the Drama Club for two years.

Prender Returns
Kingsland Prender has just returned from Europe, where he studied dramatics for a year and a half. He was in the cast of "Sometime Soon."

New Business Manager
Jack Vivian, new business manager, is a reporter on The Hatchet and sports writer on the 1931 Cherry Tree. He is a cheer leader, had a leading part in one of the one-act plays the Drama Club gave at the end of the season last year, and is a member of Delta Tau Delta.

Hannah Stolar has taken part in many plays in Washington and is president of the Jewish Community Center Dramatic Society.

Lillian Spector has had much dramatic experience, notably in "The Miracle," the Morris Gest production.

Mary Davis is a graduate of dramatics at the Virginia Intermount College.

Virginia Barrett is a member of Sigma Kappa, and is a student in the dramatization class at G. W.

Brown Leads German Club

At the last meeting of the German Club on March 13 in the Alpha Delta Theta rooms, the program was in charge of Leonard Brown, newly elected president of the club. He read two humorous stories in German. The members of the club then sang songs in German. Refreshments were served.

The purpose of the club is to encourage interest in German culture, literature and songs.

SPHINX PLEDGES LEADING WOMEN OF JUNIOR CLASS

Maciulla, Eller, Harrington, and Hoskinson Are Four to Quality This Year

Sphinx, women's honor society for high scholarship recently elected Mary Maciulla, Evelyn Eller, Cecile Harrington, and Virginia Hoskinson to membership. The initiation ceremony will be held Saturday, March 21, at 3:30 in the Sigma Kappa rooms.

Election is based on scholarship, character and personality. Members are limited to seven. The four girls elected this spring have the highest averages in the junior class. Mary Maciulla, with a 2.62 average, is highest in the junior class. She is secretary of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honor society, is on the soccer team for which she received her class numerals, and a member of the W. A. A. She has been on the honor roll during her entire course at the University.

Evelyn Eller has a 2.53 average and holds a Davis scholarship. She has been office manager of The Hatchet during the current year, and was recently appointed to fill that position next year. She is on the Cherry Tree staff, and has been on the honor roll throughout her course in the University.

Harrington Active
Cecile Harrington also has a 2.52 average, and has been an honor student during her three years in the University. She has participated in many extra-curricular activities, being an associate editor of The Hatchet during the present year, and recently elected to the same position for next year, an associate editor of the Handbook, and a member of the Cherry Tree staff. She was recently pledged to Gamma Eta Zeta, honorary journalistic sorority. She is a member of the Panhellenic Council, representing her sorority, Alpha Delta Pi.

Virginia Hoskinson has a 2.52 average, and has been an honor student since her entrance to G. W. in 1928.

Women's Debating Team In Non-Decision Matches On Friday And Saturday

A George Washington University women's debate team returned on Saturday from a trip in which they met Ohio Wesleyan University and the University of Pittsburgh. The team was composed of Louise Bruce, Elizabeth Reeves and Hilda Hayes, and upheld the negative of the proposition, Resolved: That the several States should enact laws providing for compulsory unemployment insurance.

The team, accompanied by Professor H. G. Roberts, coach of women's debate, left here on Wednesday night and reached Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday morning. They were entertained there by the Ohio Wesleyan University, with whom they debated that night. On Friday they went to Pittsburgh, where they met the team from the University of Pittsburgh. Both debates were non-decision and of the open forum type. The team returned to Washington on Saturday.

The debate with Pittsburgh was one in a triangle contract with George Washington, Cornell and Pittsburgh. The Cornell debate, which was to be held in Washington with our affirmative team on the same Friday night had to be postponed on account of illness among the Cornell debaters. The contest will take place here on Friday, March 27.

WOMEN'S DEBATE TEAM IN CONTEST HERE MARCH 21

Men Will Participate In Three Intercollegiate Debates
Over Week-End

The George Washington University women's debate team will meet the men's affirmative team from Carleton College in a debate here in Washington on Saturday, March 21. The question to be discussed is, Resolved: That the several States should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance, to which the employers shall contribute. The contest will be held in room 1 of Stockton Hall at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Henry Gratton Doyle is to be the chairman at this debate. She is the wife of the dean of the Junior College and a member of the District Board of Education. She was formerly president of Columbian Women.

George Washington University will be represented by Hilda Hayes, Elizabeth Reeves and Louise Falligant. Hilda Hayes is a junior in the University and is in her first year as a member of the intercollegiate debate squad. Last year she represented her sorority, Phi Sigma Sigma, in the intra-mural debate contest sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho. This is Elizabeth Reeves' third year in college debate and she is, this year, manager of the women's squad. She is a junior in the University. Louise Falligant is a senior in the law school and is in her second year with the George Washington debating team. Debate teams from Washington, who had participated in other debating and oratorical contests at the University of Miami, Miami, Florida. She has also had considerable experience on the political platform.

Carleton College is sending John Whyte, F. Albertson, Bean and J. Stanley Stevens to Washington for this contest. All of these men are outstanding at Carleton College, both in scholarship and in Public Speaking activities. The latter two have in different years won the Minnesota State Oratorical Contest.

The men of the University will participate in three debates over the week-end. One will be in New York with New York University, another in Boston with the University of Boston, and the third with New York University here in Washington. The question to be used in all these debates is, Resolved: That an amendment to the Federal Constitution should be adopted which shall repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and institute a system of Federal manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

G. W.'s affirmative team will uphold its side of the proposition in New York and it will be composed of Andrew Howard, Norman Hagan and Robert L. Parsons. This debate is to be held on Thursday, March 19. The same team will then go to Boston for that contest on Friday, March 20.

New York University's return debate will take place in Washington on the afternoon of Saturday, March 21. The contest will be broadcast over station WJWS at 3 p. m. George Washington will uphold the negative in this debate, and will be represented by Ralph Gilby and James Ronald.

Well Known Instructors Added To Summer Staff

The School of Education is offering courses in the summer sessions this year under several well-known teachers outside of the regular staff.

The acting president of Wilson Teacher's College of this city, Anna D. Halberg, will teach two courses. M. Eustace Broom, now taking graduate work and teaching at the University of Southern California, will have two classes. Roy O. Billet and Victor H. Noll have been gathering material for the National Survey of Secondary Education and they will use this in classes dealing with the high school. Dean Doyle and Dean Hill of this University will also conduct classes. Dean Doyle will take up the teaching of romance languages and Dean Hill will discuss the teaching of the social sciences.

During the Bicentennial Year, many of the leading educational associations are planning to have their meetings in Washington. They will bring a large number of teachers to this city. The School of Education is already working on plans which will enable it to offer twice as many courses in 1932 as are offered this year.

GLEE CLUB

Third place in an Intercollegiate Glee Club contest where there were ten other groups who wanted to win, is more than a fair showing. The George Washington boys who sang their way to fame last year in winning first place are still to be honored and encouraged to keep the standard high. No small amount of work is taken to perfect and blend the many voices into a concert production which will gain the required winning points from the judges. Not only are the boys to be commended for their willingness to work, but also for the establishment of a name for the greater George Washington University in the world at large.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Leadership in the social or extra-curricular activities of college life has generally tended to draw greater attention and notice than leadership in scholastic achievements. In the myriad of other interests surrounding the ordinary college campus life of a student the importance of high scholastic standing is all too often lost sight of.

High scholarship, it is true, is encouraged by various agencies on the University campus. Panhellenic and Interfraternity councils encourage it in the fraternal groups. Women's and men's freshman honorary societies exist to promote and reward it in new students, and Sphinx and Pyramid, honorary societies, recognize individual scholastic excellence in upperclassmen by admitting into their orders a small percentage of the highest ranking students who have completed 75 hours of work in the University.

In the past fortnight scholarship has come particularly to the front in the life of the University. First there was the awarding of the scholarship cups to the highest ranking group of pledges and to the highest ranking fraternity at the Interfraternity Prom. Then came the Panhellenic Scholarship Luncheon honoring the highest individuals in the sorority groups. At this luncheon a cup was presented to the highest ranking sorority. On the heels of this came the announcement of the names of the four women in the junior class whose high standing warranted recognition by admission into Sphinx, women's local honorary scholastic society.

Scholastic excellence richly deserves all the rewards and public recognition that are conceded it. Gratifying as the reward of being admitted into honorary societies in recognition of scholastic merit must be to those achieving high scholarship, the greatest reward runs deeper. It lies within the individual in his realization of personal achievement in the mastery of books and in a sense of power derived from the knowledge stored up within himself.

CREDIT FOR EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITY?

Should the college student who is engaged in extra-curricular work in the fields of debating, chorus work, and Thielensian be granted college credits for his efforts? Do you think that such action would cheapen the value of the college A. B. degree? There is considerable talk about the campus at the present time concerning such action by the Administration. Some students are in favor of awarding credit toward the A. B. degree for such work. They maintain that a season of varsity debating affords one the equivalent of a semester's work in a speech class; that the training one receives in chorus work is equivalent to one's study in Theory of Music and Harmony; and that work on the Thielensian is equivalent to a course in Journalism.

In addition, they maintain that the extra-curricular activities must be carried on by the few who have the initiative and the talent in these respective fields. Since many are indifferent towards taking the time to engage in debating, chorus, or Thielensian work, why shouldn't those engaging in these activities receive some remuneration? However, there is another side to this story. Let us be fair in weighing the facts, and then assert our opinions.

Were the Administration to grant credit (we are not asserting that they will or will not), it would be possible for a student to amass a total of six college credits during his collegiate career, if he participates in debating, glee club, and the Thielensian. This would without doubt save him from taking two three-hour courses of curricular work. Would his practical training and experience offset the values he would receive from the curricular courses?

It would seem that the college degree would be cheapened in value. The traditional curricular courses, consisting of the languages, History, Philosophy, etc., place a higher value upon the cost of the A. B. degree.

What, then, should be the stand taken by the administration towards recognition of extra-curricular activities? To grant or not to grant credit? Shall the experience gained therefrom by the individual, and his love for his Alma Mater be sufficient recompense? The Thielensian invites student opinion on this question.

The Thielensian.

Hard working Hatchettes are so busy working on the special issue for next week that the office assumes an unusual air. Nobody on the staff seems to have announced it so we may as well tell you that March 25 will bring to you besides the regular Hatchet an historical supplement and a roto-gravure. With this "big impression" the present editor and associate editors "pass out." They can't tell us that this "big issue" hasn't been concocted just to make it look as though they'd been doing the same all year.

One pencil sharpener is the latest addition to the equipment of The Hatchet office. Thasannnnnnk you! But don't forget, Mr. Graduate Manager, that Rollo wants a word or two in his new dictionary. All or nothing!

Honor system adopted by rhetoric class. Story also says that "Other universities have used it with great success."

Another bunch of women announce another organization so they can have more activities to put after their names. Whoever publicized the new female foreign service frat is going to need more experience before turning out convincing diplomatic theses. The first five sentences in the first four paragraphs begin with that seldom used word, "the." Some of these women have lots and lots to learn.

We thought we had something new when Provost Wilbur gave us green paper in exam books. But an excerpt from The Emory Wheel reveals that at another university a psychology prof had exam book covers printed in red, blue, yellow, and other glaring hues, in order to wake the students up. Ours will probably be buff and blue pretty soon.

Subscription dances are flocking in fast and furious. Funny how every group picks the same time of year. That provides a good alibi for failures.

The Student Union Fund dance Saturday seems to have the jump on all the rest, however, and may confidently be expected to provide the additional thirteen thousand necessary to complete the Student Council quota. Rollo, being a campus celebrity, will be there.

That should attract at least one more cash customer, the co-ed who is willing: "I've spent all my freshman year so far trying to find out who Dick Rollo is."

Various repercussions as a result of The Hatchet's signed article about the Prom. But if you'll take the trouble to read carefully the letters criticizing The Hatchet's printed story, a number of contradictions will be found.

One correspondent bases his argument on the words of a musician (who is naturally not going to criticize a fellow artist) and fails to consider the fact that opera stars and newspaper men and even orchestra leaders have certain unhappy moments when they're not quite themselves. Rollo, we assure you, is quite normal at the present moment.

Another correspondent is laboring under the delusion that the Interfraternity Prom is a University affair and as such should be backed up to the hilt by The Hatchet. For his benefit and for all others who are likewise ignorant, the Interfraternity Council is not controlled by the University and has no official status whereby unfavorable comment will harm the University. The Council is merely an organization composed of certain of the national fraternities on the campus.

Miss Ellen Dashiell, of the Anne Tilley Renshaw School of Expression, will give an hour of readings from the Catholic poets at the next meeting of the Newman Club, to be held Thursday evening, March 19, at 8:30 P. M., in Room 29, Corcoran Hall.

Women's class tennis will start March 23. There will be four practices a week. Hours will be announced later. An all-campus spring doubles tournament is being planned. Details will be posted in a later issue of The Hatchet.

Books for next year's Troubadours' production should be sent to the Registrar's Office not later than May 1. Anyone wishing to submit music or lyrics may hand them in at the office or send them to June Wells, at the Sigma Nu house, or to Dan Beattie, at the Theta Delta Chi house.

Courses in Commercial Art and Art in Photography are to be added to the electives in the Fine Arts Division next fall. Mr. Eugene Weiss is to be instructor in the two new courses.

All students who are competing in the Community Drama Guild's play-writing contest are reminded that all manuscripts must be in the hands of the committee by March 31.

The third annual engineers' banquet will take place Saturday evening, March 21, at 7:30, at Meridian Mansions. Professor N. B. Ames of the electrical engineering department, will act as toastmaster. Others scheduled to speak are Dean Johnson, Commander Frost, and Mr. N. B. De Groot of the Bureau of Safety, Interstate Commerce Commission. Phil Hayden's musical review will furnish the lighter amusement. Tickets may still be procured from Miss Ehlshlager in Dean Johnson's office.

The Drama Club will not meet this week.

An illustrated lecture on house furnishing will be given Friday morning, at 11 o'clock, in Building C, Room 21. A representative of the house furnishing department of Dulin and Martin's will discuss window treatment, using materials from the store to illustrate her talk. Everyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

March 24 is the day selected for the Easter meeting of the Y. W. C. A., which will be held in Room 10 of Building M, at twelve o'clock. At the close of the meeting luncheon will be served in the Women's Building to all those who have signed for it.

It's Sigma Nu vs. Phi Sigma Kappa for the interfraternity bowling championship next Saturday night!

Tied at the start of the evening last Saturday with Kappa Sigma for the lead of League A, Sigma Nu assured themselves of the league-title and the right to meet Phi Sig in the roll-off for the interfraternity cup, by sweeping all three of their games from the Acacia team, while Kappa Sig faltered in the home stretch and dropped their third game to S. P. E. after winning the first two. The outcome of these matches left the Snakes with a record of eleven victories in fifteen games, while Kappa Sig's standing showed but ten triumphs in the same number of games.

Kappa Sigs Slump

Although leading in pins when the evening started, the Kappa Sigs saw their advantage steadily mowed down by their rivals, who gained 46 pins on them while matching them victory for victory in the first two games. Then in the final game of the night, all doubts were removed when the Kappa Sigs slumped miserably in the nightcap when only one of their team could maintain the pace. Birdseye was the only one who could get over a hundred, and the S. P. Es won the fatal game by a 20-pin margin, eliminating the procedure of counting pin-fall.

Sigma Nu, on the other hand, continued its assault on the Acacias, winning the last game by 8 pins to chalk up their third victory of the night and the one which gave them the league-championship. Even had S. P. E. not added the Snakes in their drive, it is doubtful if the latter would have lost as Johnny Neale and Paul Brown collaborated in the "hero" role for their team. With the rivals tied right up to the last box in the last Snowden of Acacia to settle the fracas, while the persistent rolling of Neale gave him a 337 set with games of 117 and 125 featuring.

Phi Sigs Finally Lose

After winning eleven straight games, Phi Sigma Kappa, crowned champions of League B two weeks ago, finally succumbed and dropped the third game of the night to S. A. E. Winning that by 31 pins, the Sig Alphas gained the honor of being the only team to take the measure of Phi Sig throughout the season. Three of the Phi Sigs could not even reach 90 in the last game, accounting for the S. A. E. verdict.

In the only other match played in League B, Sigma Chi won two games from Theta Delta Chi. The match was featured by the rolling of Rae Edmonston of Sigma Chi, who, as it happened, gained 137 and tied Neale for the evening's high set of 337. Parker Jones of Theta Delt turned in a nice performance, with a set of 336. Theta Upsilon Omega drew a bye and K. A. and the Deltas agreed to postpone their match until tonight. High set, however, still belongs to Neale of Sigma Nu, who rolled 355 in the S. P. E. Sigma Nu match. Moreover, none have bettered Clyde Reeves' individual game mark of 145.

Rivals Present Contrast

With the races in both leagues now over, and Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Nu destined to meet on Saturday night, it will be best to look at the records of each to gain some idea of their comparative strength. Phi Sig, it will be noted, brushed aside all opposition including the powerful aggregation representing Theta Upsilon Omega. If they keep up the fine marksmanship shown thus far, their followers will be satisfied. Sigma Nu, on the other hand, has not had such colorful success, but through grim determination has won out in League A after a slow start. Probably their outstanding feat was their set score of 1601, which was not bettered by any team throughout the series. Next Saturday night, therefore, should be packed full of thrills and should furnish a real championship battle.

Weather Regulated By Sun Is Latest Theory Advanced

Dr. Charles G. Abbot, astronomer at the Smithsonian Institute here, has advanced the theory that changes in the intensity of the sun's rays regulate the weather.

Meteorologists heretofore have believed that weather depended mainly on irregularities of the earth's surface and could not be predicted far in advance any more than could the passage of rough water in a stream over a rocky bed. However, Dr. Abbot believes, weather is caused chiefly by frequent interventions of actual changes of the emission of radiation within the sun itself.

His discovery has been checked with similar findings at Williston, N. D., and Yuma, Arizona, he explains.

Sport Axe

By DAVID R. COOMBS

We are informed that there is another form of athletics now becoming important in G. W.'s intercollegiate competition, besides that of "Big Jim's" football squad—namely: the swimming team. The Buff and Blue swimmers have not made a great showing this season, it is true, but they have made great progress in the foundation for future teams of better calibre. In fact, the Colonials have not won even one match so far this season; falling victims to such colleges as Johns Hopkins, William and Mary, and Virginia. But the boys have had a great time, and what is of more importance, they think they have done a man sized job. The joke of it all is that they have done just that—laugh 'hat off, undergrads.

The "Razz Berry" gave us a true sketch of Jean Sexton—yes! We noticed that a similar column was once printed by Dick Hollander in The News. We didn't think a Phi Delt would steal . . .

Has any one been in the gymnasium since the interior decorations have been completed? Yes—we know all about the balcony. But that isn't half of it. There are now three offices: one for the coaches and the stenographer; one for the Assistant Director of Athletics; and one for the Director, himself. There are huge lounging chairs, center placed desks, boudoir curtains, and many pictures on the walls. One of these pictures has quite a bit of history behind it. It is older, much older, than the University, itself. One needs only to look at it to see that. Its proud owner, the Assistant Athletic Director, states that that was the very reason it was purchased. "The devil," says he, "What's the use of having an old picture if it doesn't look the part?" This masterpiece covers one side of the whole room, reaching from ceiling to floor. It is encased in a huge fake-gold frame, as are all masterpieces. Daniel Boone, dressed in conventional buckskin and with the traditional rifle on his arm, stands disapprovingly down upon Mr. Farrington's desk. The two hounds, jumping around at his feet, almost bark. Some one has dared to ask just what Daniel Boone has to do with George Washington. Max takes such questions as the mark of a low I. Q. on the part of the questioner, and condescendingly states that the gentlemen in question were very good friends—in fact—bosom companions. If pressed, he will tell the story of how these two conquerors found the Pacific. But, all in all, it is an impressive looking picture.

Spring football under way! Forty men tearing up and down a sun-baked field learning fundamentals—and more fundamentals! Will someone please write a song (any tune is accepted) and title it Fundamentals. Now, if Dip Walsh were still around . . . What about Len, fellows?

Our mutual friend, Dick Hollander, of the News, has written us stating that he is an undergraduate of this University. He wants to know if there is anything wrong with that? Well, just what are we supposed to say to that, Dick? We will say that we can always find out what is going on down here in your column.

Advanced courses have at last been started in the Physical Education Department. Come over some afternoon and see our mighty athletes and others balance themselves daintily on one finger on the cross bars. Or perhaps they would rather exhibit a triple reverse spin on the ropes—it all depends on the mood they're in. Jean Sexton says some of his boys are mighty good.

Intramural baseball is due to get under way in the next few weeks—as soon as the weather permits, in fact. Here's a chance for all men to come out and play in their free hours, Saturday afternoons included. Some of these fraternity athletes might be able to work in a little training this way. Anyway, we'll have a good time.

Spring Training Starts Under Pixlee's Tutorage

40 Candidates Report for First Practice Session

Over 40 football candidates went through the first session of the spring training season last Monday afternoon, when Head Coach Pixlee and Assistants Len Walsh and Jean Sexton inaugurated the training processes. Included among the two-score going through the paces were all of last year's varsity squad and freshman squads in addition to some few athletes who entered the University in February.

That fundamentals will be stressed almost to the exclusion of everything else, is the statement of Pixlee who wishes to have his men versed in the rudiments of the game before next September rolls around. With the expectation of the largest squad in the history of the school, little time will be available next fall for individual instruction, which is being provided at the current sessions.

However, those boys who were under the disillusionment that the spring sessions is more or less play, received a rude jolt when the equipment was distributed, as full equipment, including shoulder pads, cleats and other details of the rougher sort of work indicated that the term "football" would not be altogether neglected.

BASEBALL STARTS FOR INTRAMURALS ON FIRST OF APRIL

Six Schools Represented in Schedule Released Today;
One Managership Open

The good old baseball season is just around the corner and Assistant Athletic Director Max Farrington has been busily planning and outlining the intramural baseball league. As in the past, George Washington will have no varsity baseball team, but previous intramural sport programs are predicted to be overshadowed by this year's baseball program and much interest has already been aroused.

The league is divided into six teams: Law School, Pre-Medical School, Columbian College, Pharmacy School, Junior College, and Engineering School. The managers of the various teams held a meeting last Sunday afternoon and a complete schedule was arranged. All games will be played on the Potomac Park diamonds. The team managers are chosen by the Athletic Department, and at present all have been selected except for the Pharmacy School. A manager for this school is needed and any day student desiring the position is requested to apply to Mr. Farrington.

All students who are interested in baseball are requested to see their respective managers or give their name to Farrington at the athletic office in the gymnasium. It is not necessary to have an athletic pedigree or be an ex-baseball star to play on these teams. The primary purpose of intramural athletics is "sports for everyone." Attendance at physical education classes will be excused those participating in baseball. At the end of the season, an all-star team will be chosen by Frank Bowman, Hatchet reporter, who will cover all

Swimming Team Prepares For District A. A. U. Meet

The George Washington swimming team will wind up its season during the present week-end when it sends its individual members into the District of Columbia A. A. U. annual tournament which will be held in the Shoreham Hotel pool on Friday and Saturday nights. While the team has not won any of its dual meets this season, it has presented several individuals who have given good accounts of themselves and stand a chance of getting some glory in the competition this week. Foremost among the team is Max Rote, a freshman, who has consistently been among the leaders in the events in which he has competed all season.

TRACK MEET SET BY FRAT COUNCIL

Eight Events on Program in Central High Stadium Sunday, April 12

At the regular meeting of the Interfraternity Council, held Sunday, March 15, at the Kappa Sigma house, April 12 was set as a tentative date for a track meet, as well as for the opening of baseball and tennis competitions. The track meet will probably be held in the Central High School stadium, and will include: 50-yard, 100-yard, and 220-yard dashes, high jumps, broad jumps, shot puts, quarter-mile relay, and a novelty tennis relay. It was decided that the fraternities must make individual reservations of baseball diamonds and tennis courts.

The Council passed a formal resolution in appreciation of the services of Robert M. Gray, who has been forced by doctor's orders to resign the secretaryship; William Hanback was elected to succeed him.

The social chairman announced that there were a few men's and women's prom favors left, which can be purchased for 75c and $2.50 from any member of the council. A dollar subscription dance sponsored by the council has also been announced; it will be held in Corcoran Hall Friday after the Easter recess, April 17. It is hoped that the fraternities will give their support to this first dollar dance given by the council this semester.

Morning Rhetoric Class

Adopts Key As Emblem

The morning class in first year English Rhetoric has decided to adopt a key with the school seal as the official emblem of the class of 1934. The key may be bought by any member of this year's freshman class, regardless of the school in which he is registered. Orders may be placed with Joe Danasany, Bob McCormick, or Daniel Milwitt.

The keys cost two dollars. They are of grained gold, with the seal and name of the University, and the date, 1934, in raised design. On the reverse side is engraved the purchaser's name. Approximately 200 orders have been received thus far. The keys will be ready in less than a month.

Senior-Sophomore Team Wins Basketball Match

Game Friday Closes Women's 1931 Basketball Schedule

Classes of '31 and '32, playing on the Odd basketball team defeated those of '32 and '34, comprising the Even team, 15-12, Friday evening in the G. W. gym, finishing the basketball schedule.

From the first moment of play, the results of the game were a gamble, first one team leading and then the other. In the half the defeated Even team was leading by one point.

The play of each team was up to the playing done by G. W. varsity teams in the years before. Mary Lee Watkins and Kay McCallum of the Even team did the outstanding playing of the evening, keeping such usually infallible forwards as Alethea Lawton, Martha Benenson, and Jean McGregor from scoring more than fifteen points. Mary Lee Watkins let almost no ball pass her without returning it immediately to the center field.

Playing in the center field was almost even, with Wilhelmina Gude and Polly Linville keeping their less experienced opponents, Nancy Booth and Louise Linkins, in constant motion.

This game came as the climax of the '31 basketball season. Helen Lawrence, coach of the women basketballers, may feel that she has produced two teams of varsity caliber instead of the one of previous years.

Co-Ed Gym Classes Give

Exhibition of Work Done During Past Two Months

A gym demonstration showing the work that has been accomplished in the required physical education classes during the winter was held Friday evening in the gymnasium.

The evening's program started at 8 o'clock with marching tactics by Miss Janet Jones' classes. This was followed by Miss Ruth Atwell's class in Swedish gymnastics.

Two folk dances, "Bean Setting," an English Morris dance, and an American "square dance" taught by Ruth Anbeck, were next on the program. A group of songs, "Hayfoot," "Arkansas Travelers," "Hay-rates," and a Swedish folk dance, "Weaving," were preceded by accurate and elaborate pyramid building by the combined classes.

A Danish gymnastics drill was followed by another group of dances, "Little Man in a Pin" and "The Hatter," and by a fencing drill which ended with a fencing drill match between Mr. Browning, the fencing instructor, and Midge Montgomery.

Tumbling and stunts by all members of the gym classes, followed by two Russian folk dances, "Czardas" and "In the Garden," closed the demonstration.

Mrs. Evans Chosen Delegate

Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., of the Board of Trustees of The George Washington University, has been chosen by the American Association of University Women as a delegate to their seventh national convention in Boston, April 8-11.

This is the first time that the university has been represented at the convention, and it is particularly fitting that its first delegate should be Mrs. Evans, whose efforts in behalf of the presentation of George Washington's qualifications was an important contributing factor in its admission to membership in the Association.

1931 CHERRY TREE NOW AT PRINTER'S

Annual is Expected to Surpass Editions of Past Four or Five Years

With the copy of the 1931 Cherry Tree now in the hands of the printer every effort is being made to impress upon the students in the University the necessity of subscribing to The Cherry Tree as soon as possible in order to insure their copies. With the demand far in excess of former years and with a limited edition ordered it will probably be a case of first come, first served.

A student may insure his receiving his copy by sending a check for four dollars to the business manager of the annual at the University or by paying this amount at the office of the bursar. In either case a card entitling one to a copy of The Cherry Tree will be given. After the first edition is sold there will be no chance of ordering more. The books will be distributed on May 1.

When The Cherry Tree went to press during the past week the unanimous opinion of the Board of the annual was that it will be one of the best ever published by the University and, at least, will far excel the editions of the past four or five years. According to the business manager, the book this year represents more cash value than any edition of a similar period.

Student Response Gratifies
Never before in the history of The Cherry Tree has the interest and response to the book been so gratifying. While this has made the job more difficult than in former years, it has made the work for the members of The Cherry Tree staff more enjoyable for they have felt that their efforts are being appreciated.

With the book representing about a hundred more seniors than ever before, with separate sections for the various schools, and with the addition of the many outstanding features which will be announced from time to time, the work of producing this year's book has been greatly increased, but the voluminous task of handling some 2,500 pictures, collecting and assembling material, and the final arrangement of the book is now a thing of the past, and the members of the board are urging everyone to insure their copies of the book before it is too late, as they will probably regret any oversight.

Fresh Riflers Victorious Over Upperclass Shooters

The freshman members of the girl's rifle squad were victorious over the upperclassmen by the score of 380 to 377 out of a possible 400, in an interclass match held last week. The scores of the high four were as follows:

Freshmen	97
Schmidt	95
Ingham	95
MacArthur	95
Myers	93

Upper-Classmen	380
Beattie	95
Haines	94
Nichols	94
Simond	94

Girls who wish to learn to shoot off-hand may do so this week. Aside from this, there will be more shooting for squad members this year.

Menorah Society Musicales To Be Presented in April

The Menorah Society will hold a musicale on April 11 for members of the club and a group of invited guests. Several young and talented artists will perform. The program, according to the entertainment committee, promises to be interesting. It will include both vocal and musical selections as well as dramatic readings. The time and place of the program will be announced in a later edition of The Hatchet.

At the last meeting of the club on Thursday, March 12, Morris Sussman, a student of the University, delivered a talk on contemporary religion. He reviewed the fundamentals of the various religions and their present status. A very interesting contrast was brought out between the religions of the East and West. The Eastern religions tend to curb desire and thus lead to happiness, where the Western foster dissatisfaction that ultimately leads to progress. A stimulated open discussion followed his talk.

Panhel Starts Tournament

The annual bridge tournament under the auspices of the Panhellenic Council was started this week under the direction of Indel Roberts Little. The groups have been divided according to the Panhellenic list and will play in two leagues. These games will be over by March 30; when the final game will be played and the cup presented to the winner.

CORRESPONDENT ADDRESSES CLUB

Liberals to Hear Laurence Todd, Federated Press Member, This Evening

Laurence Todd, Washington correspondent of the Federated Press, will speak before the Liberal Club this evening on the topic, "The Press and Social Progress." Mr. Todd is qualified to discuss the influence of the press upon social legislation and social progress through his contact with the Washington press and his career as a journalistic champion of the rights of labor.

As head of the Federated Press Bureau in Washington, Mr. Todd supplies news to hundreds of labor, Socialist, and farm papers throughout the United States and Canada. He is expected to discuss the question of the control of the press, and in particular, the control of the labor press; the influence of the labor press upon legislation, and the policies of some of the leading labor and liberal dailies and weeklies.

The Liberal Club invites all students to attend this meeting, which should be of interest to students of journalism. As usual, an hour will be devoted to discussion and questions.

On March 25, the Liberal Club will be addressed by Dr. Isidore Lubin, of the staff of Brookings Institute. Dr. Lubin will speak on "The Unemployment Problem and Possible Solutions." As an economist of international standing, an author of repute, and a member of the council of Brookings, Dr. Lubin is qualified to discuss this timely topic.

Greeks Wax Vociferous Viewing Bowling Matches

Football Season is Called to Mind of Reporter

Persons possessing an imagination might easily picture the frenzied shouting heard at the gatherings of the Greeks at the Rensselaer Alleys as typical of the college spirit shown in our nation's football stadiums.

There's every kind of cheer represented among the shoutings of the adherents of fraternal bowling. The outcries range, from the organized ones of the victorious teams saluting the vanquished, to the crescendo of sound heard when one of the good brothers scatters the pins for a strike or a spare. Groans, loud and long, are also evident when the little black ball just skims past a beautiful spare break, just as a long forward pass slipped out of the hands of that end who had a clear field in the stupendous gridiron struggle, last autumn. But when a spare is rolled on top of a strike, the din becomes deafening.

At the beginning of this story the writer stated that "persons possessing an imagination" might conceive of the idea that the Grecian tumult at the Rensselaer resembled somewhat the crowd in a football stand at a big game. However, one would not need a great amount of imaginative powers to give birth to such an idea. One view of the frenzied brothers of the modern Greek world at the alleys supporting their pinspillers by straining their vocal cords to the utmost is convincing enough. The tumult is a stirring mass of sound and if it were not for the crack of the ball and the rattle of the pins, one could almost hear the thud of the pigskin and the patter of cleated feet.

The games between Kappa Alpha and Kappa Sigma, week before last, were an occasion that deserved more than the usual amount of vocal support, because of the upset achieved by K. A. in downing the league leaders in two games out of a three-game match. Well! There was more than the usual amount, as Kappa Sigma turned out en masse, and the small band of K. A.'s made up in actual sound for what they lacked in numbers. The opposing members of both squads were evenly matched and each roll was watched with bated breath until the sphere crashed into the pins, then a shout, a groan, or perhaps, "A nice break, boy." However, when those two aces, Larry Phillips, a Kappa Alpha man, and Charlie Birdseye, a Kappa Sigma, came forward to demolish the triangle of pins, the cries and pleadings were taken up by the "stands" with renewed vigor. The contingent from K. A. outdid themselves when Larry completed his first game with the score of 130. Likewise did the Kappa Sigma's when Birdseye rolled 118 on his last game to win the third game.

All those who have a desire to see the true collegiate spirit as depicted in contemporary literature, might attend the next series of interfraternity sporting events (baseball); and they surely will find it — perhaps "in the raw" — but that's college.

Fraternity pledges at New River State College perform before the entire school assembled in chapel. According to the New River State Collection this annual event has a purpose, but we are not told what the purpose is. Explanations are invited.

Victory Thursday Places G. W. Chess Team Third

George Washington Team Defeats Bureau of Standards

The George Washington University Chess Club concluded its second successive winning match when it defeated the Bureau of Standards team last Thursday evening at the Capital City Chess Club, with a score of 3½ to ½.

This victory places the George Washington team in third position, following the Agriculture and Chevy Chase teams. The team showed decided improvement over its previous form and it is hoped that more members will join in order to strengthen the team still more.

The score of the match follows:

No. 1 board: R. Sherfy defeated Shepard (French Defense).
No. 2 board: L. Sherfy defeated Tucker, Jr. (Queen's Gambit declined).
No. 3 board: H. Queen defeated Branheur (Ruy Lopez).

No. 4 board: C. Barwick drew Svashnikoff (Ruy Lopez).

The fifth match, played by J. Epstein, has not been decided yet and is being adjudicated by G. E. Bishop.

Another match will take place March 26 at 8 o'clock at the Capital City Chess Club. Students are invited to attend the next meeting of the club, which will be held Thursday, March 19, in W-15, and challenge the team members.

G. W. Co-Ed Rifle Team Defeats Washington U.

Revenge For Last Year's Defeat At Their Hands

On March 7, the George Washington women's rifle team experienced its most thrilling victory of the season, by defeating the University of Washington, 494 to 491. The G. W. girls were especially jubilant over the results of this match because the University of Washington, which defeated the G. W. girls last year by the narrow margin of one point, has been the only college capable of triumphing over the G. W. co-eds. The five high scores were as follows:

Johnson	100
Lane	99
Selbert	99
L. Corea	98
Kerr	98

494

The G. W. team shot two matches on March 14, one with the University of Pennsylvania and one with the University of Maryland, who have a clean slate for the season thus far. The returns have not yet been received for either of these two matches. The five high scores, which totaled 497, on the G. W. team were:

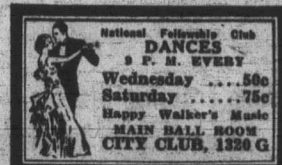

Wright	100
White	100
I. B. Corea	99
Kerr	99
Sheffield	99

Architects Try For Awards

Two prize contests and a scholarship award are taking up a great deal of the time of the G. W. architects these days. On last Saturday the American Institute of Steel Construction held a contest for the purpose of giving to bridge construction proper emphasis on the aesthetic problem. The awards for the best solution of the problem were $500 first prize, $250 second prize, and a third prize of $100.

The Henry Adams Prize contest was over at midnight Saturday. This prize is awarded annually to the best solution of a fourteenth century French Gothic "fiche." The Fontainebleau scholarship is awarded annually by Whitney Warren through the Beaux Arts Institute of Design, Division of Architecture. The Fontainebleau is the only one yet open; no awards have been announced to date.

The Editor's Mail Box

To the Editor:
Favorable official action followed your editorial in the issue of December 10 requesting extension of the Christmas holiday to include the belated week-end after the new year. Another holiday will soon be here and I feel that it would be in accord with your previous policy to mention to the administration the unusual features of the situation which requires students in this University to attend classes on Good Friday.

The student body was extremely grateful to President Marvin for his quick response in December. I believe that he would understand a similar request for an earlier Easter vacation as a request coming from men and women who are not anxious to escape from classes but who have come to expect a vacation on Good Friday as the result of previous school training and habit. A poll would, I believe, disclose a preponderance of serious-minded approval of my suggestion.

May I, therefore, request you to communicate to President Marvin this petition which is purely a personal one, but which I know is concurred in by many on this campus, and which I believe to be not inconsistent with your policy.

LEO DAVID.

To the Editor:
Since the annual Interfraternity Ball, just recently held at the Willard, there has been considerable criticism of the music furnished at that affair by Johnnie Slaughter.

It seemed strange to me that an orchestra with the reputation of Slaughter's outfit could really be so very bad. So I took the trouble to do a little investigating.

I talked with a man who is an accomplished musician, jazz and otherwise, and who really knows Johnnie and his orchestra. It was most enlightening.

In regard to the rhythm, undoubtedly so "dirge-like," every orchestra in the country, with few exceptions, which is really rated as a top-notch, is characterized by the same quality—a slow, dignified, but very musical rhythm. Paul Whiteman and Guy Lombardo, for instance.

And in regard to the lack of loudness. The same orchestras already referred to play so quietly that the noise of the dancers' feet is plainly audible.

These things are "evident truths." The subject of this interview spoke not from hearsay, but from actual experience. Years spent as a musician and business manager for nationally known orchestras certainly should be authority enough.

All of which doesn't alter the fact that Slaughter was not a success at the Prom. But it was not the fault of the orchestra. The trouble lay in us.

We are used to the rip-roaring, slam-bang kind of jazz prevalent in Washington. And it is this type which we demand. If Slaughter is good enough to play for various fashionable Bermudan resorts, he must have a good orchestra. The fact that we don't like it should not be used to run its reputation down.

In the future just hire an orchestra

To the Editor:
In anticipation of criticism which we feel is sure to follow the article by Ruth Griggs on the Interfraternity Prom, we wish to add our small gripe to the aforesaid article.

Something was wrong with the prom! Maybe it was not the music, but in our opinion the music didn't add a thing to the success of the party. Let's look at the facts. There were at least 400 people there, and the supposition should not be far-fetched that they came there to have a good time. A dance, and particularly a school dance, is a thing of action. It takes life to put the thing across. When the people take the floor they are doing their part and that act alone shows their willingness if not their eagerness to have a good time. If they had not felt like having a good time they would in all probability have stayed away. Then what is the logical conclusion to draw? Especially when everyone voiced the same expression on the day following the prom.

Far be it from us to criticize unduly. But we are all for the Interfraternity Prom and sincerely hope that the next one will create a different sort of comment.

C. MANLEY FESLER,
JOHN T. VIVIAN.

To the Editor:
The reason for this letter is the recent article in The Hatchet concerning the Interfraternity Prom which was held at the Willard Hotel on March 6. This article brought forth to my mind a fact which has been noticeable in the University for some time; that is, the subverting of the University as a whole to organization and personal grievances and gains.

It is a recognized fact among organization men and women who are not too short-sighted that the University is the essential and necessary background for the various organizations which exist because of it. I will state here, lest there be an error in the interpretation of the term, that by organizations I mean fraternities and sororities. When any organization reaches the point where the University becomes subservient to the same it is high time to do something about it. It is a known fact that on our own campus there are certain organizations which control certain activities. More power to them and their spirit—until they become in their own eyes higher and mightier than the University. When an organization controls an activity and overrides talent which would bring greater success to the activity and greater success to the University because of petty politics or grievances, it is time for some one to raise the hue and cry.

The Interfraternity Prom is a University affair. It is the only social function, along with the Panhellenic Prom, that receives any real publicity as a University affair. The Hatchet is the University paper. It is the students' paper and should back up to the hilt student affairs which are worthy. This was not done in the case of this year's prom. The publicity before the prom was not given as favorable space as in former years, and the very adverse and, in many people's opinion, entirely unwarranted criticism was given most favorable space. The prom may not have been conducted along as stiff and formal lines as in previous years. The orchestra might not have been at its best, but it certainly was not the total flop that the article would leave readers of our paper in California, Kalamazoo and other faraway places to believe. If the prom had been such a flop as readers would be led to believe, it could not help but have been a reflection on the University as a whole to readers on the outside.

In my opinion it was the duty of The Hatchet to be at least fair in its criticism of the prom, if not to put greater emphasis on its redeeming features, it being a University function.

ROBERT C. LOWE.

Leave it to engineers to take care of themselves. During a smoker given by an engineering fraternity at the University of Pittsburgh, it was discovered that the frankfurters had not been cooked and that there was no stove on which to cook them. But a genius came to the rescue! Two rows of nails were quickly driven into a long board with a wire connecting each nail in each row. The hot dogs were placed on the nails and the electric current attached and turned on. Before long the feast was well underway.

What the NEW HUMIDOR PACK means to Camel Smokers*

COMPARE a package of Camels with any other cigarette and note the difference in the technique of packing.

Note that Camels are completely enclosed in an outer transparent cover of moisture-proof cellophane and sealed air-tight at every point.

We call this outer shell the Humidor Pack. It differs from the ordinary cellophane pack and while it is egg-shell thin, it means a lot in terms of cigarette enjoyment.

It means, for instance, that evaporation is checkmated and that Salt

Lake City can now have as good Camels as Winston-Salem.

While Camels are made of a blend of the choicest Turkish and mellowest domestic tobaccos, it is highly important, if you are to get full benefit of this quality, that these cigarettes come to you with their natural moisture content still intact.

The Humidor Pack insures that. It prevents the fine tobaccos of Camels from drying out and losing any of their delightful flavor.

Aside from cheap tobacco, two factors in a cigarette can mar the smoker's pleasure:

Fine particles of peppery dust if left in the tobacco by inefficient cleaning methods sting and irritate delicate throat membrane.

Dry tobacco, robbed of its natural moisture by scorching or by evaporation gives off a hot smoke that burns the throat with every inhalation.

We take every precaution against these factors here at Winston-Salem.

A special vacuum cleaning apparatus removes dust and now the new Humidor Pack prevents dryness.

Check the difference yourself
It is a very simple matter to check the difference between Humidor Packed

Camels and other ordinary dry cigarettes.

First of all you can feel the difference as you roll the cigarettes between your fingers. Camels are full-bodied and pliable. A dry cigarette crumbles under pressure and sheds tobacco.

If you will hold a cigarette to each ear and roll them with your fingers you can actually hear the difference.

The real test of course is to smoke them. And here's where the new Humidor Pack proves a real blessing to the smoker.

As you inhale the cool, fragrant smoke from a Camel you get all the mildness and magic of the fine tobaccos of which it is blended.

But when you draw in the hot smoke from a dried cigarette see how flat and brackish it is by comparison and how harsh it is to your throat.

If you are a regular Camel smoker you have already noticed what proper condition of the cigarette means.

But if you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack you have a new adventure with Lady Nicotine in store.

Switch your affections for just one day, then go back to your old love tomorrow if you can.
